

INSPECTION TOUR OF CYCLONE DISTRICTS

NEEDS OF SUFFERERS FROM RECENT STORM WILL BE CLASSIFIED.

COMMITTEE IS BUSY

Belleville Has Five Hundred Dollars And Will Have Three Times That Amount Later.

This morning shortly after nine, three auto loads of members of the county relief committee, representatives from Belleville and Evansville, went through the town of Plymouth visiting the scene of the cyclone disaster of November 11th.

The party consisted of Frank Roach, William Bladen, H. F. Bliss, and W. O. Hanson of the county relief committee, Mayor Cunningham, Joseph Hubbard of the Belleville Free Press, Fred Gilman of Evansville, George Decker, H. L. Miller and Wallace McPherson. The members of the committee were supplied with currency and checks to meet immediate demands and one car had bedding and supplies for the most needy.

The party expected to cover the entire western cyclone district today and tomorrow will go north and east of the city. A careful list of the necessities of the sufferers will be made out and acted upon by the committee immediately on their return while the necessities of repairs that can be arranged today will be handled on the ground.

Belleville has organized a general relief committee with Simon Smith as chairman, W. O. Hanson, treasurer and Thos. Hendley as secretary and have five hundred dollars in their fund which will be turned over to the county relief fund for immediate use. They expect to raise in the neighborhood of fifteen hundred dollars more, making their contribution two thousand in all.

The two benefits given by the Lyric and Majestic theaters netted $355 in all to the fund. The Lyric turned in $205.50 and the Majestic $149.50. Added from this sum the Janesville lodge 254 B. P. O. E. 2, voted to contribute $50.00 to the fund and the check was sent to chairman Paul this morning. Edgerton is reported to be raising a fund also. The sale of seats for the benefit performance to be given at the Myers Theater next week is progressing nicely. The young ladies are giving it in charge expect to dispose of $1,000 in tickets. Manager Myers donated his theater and as all talent is given free, it will be clear profit. Janet Day has charge of this feature.

The following is an additional list of contribution since yesterday:

- Martha Wolnitz 5.00
- W. W. Day 5.00
- W. B. Davis 5.00
- Joe Kober 5.00
- Stacy Holding 2.00
- L. N. Mendo 1.00
- L. J. Japans 1.00
- Ladies of Mauchess 15.00

DEFENDANTS TELL TAR PARTY PLANS BUT DENY GUILT

Defense Closes Taking of Testimony in Case at Lincoln Center, Kan., Today.

Lincoln Center, Kan., Nov. 22.—The defense in the "tar party" case closed testimony today and then began to present evidence in the rebuttal. All of the defendants told the same story. They admitted knowing of the plan to tar Miss Chamberlain and starting to where the crime was to be committed, but denied having a hand in the assault or of ever intending to have.

Handling the tarring of Miss Chamberlain as a barbaric, cowardly and brutal, Prosecutor McCannless this afternoon in his closing address to the jury demanded that the severest penalty it was possible to inflict be meted to her defamers.

COMMISSION BEGINS EXPRESS HEARINGS

Interstate Commerce Body Will Determine by Investigation Whether Rates Charged are Just.

New York, Nov. 22.—The Interstate Commerce Commission began a series of important hearings in this city today with the object of determining whether the rates charged by the big express companies doing business in the United States are reasonable and just. The investigation is regarded as one of the most important that the commission has yet undertaken. It is the direct result of numerous complaints received from commercial organizations and individual shippers in all parts of the country. These complaints have alleged abuses in the treatment of the regulations and prices of the express companies. The commission will endeavor to find out why the express companies persist in keeping their tariffs practically secret. The bulk of their division of profits with the railroads will receive attention. The express companies have shown some disposition to oppose the investigation and it is not expected the inside facts in the matter will be gained except as the result of a strenuous fight.

IMPORTANT RULING ON STATE ROAD ACT

Attorney General Answers Question of Interest Payment on Bond Issue in the Negative.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 22.—Attorney General L. H. Baueroff has given an important ruling bearing on the pending money raised by bond issues for improving highways under the new state aid highway law. He was asked to decide whether the interest on a proposed bond issue for highway improvement may expend the full amount of money thus raised in one year, and then each year as the bonds become payable, use the amount raised by tax for the purpose of paying the installment of the principal on such bonds as the basis for receiving state aid.

The attorney general said that in his opinion any money raised to pay interest on such bonds could not be raised as a basis for obtaining state aid. He said he had given the law a very liberal construction in arriving at this conclusion, but suggested that it be brought to the attention of the next legislature with a view of having the law amended so that it will expressly authorize such action.

CONTROVERSY OVER TUBERCULIN TEST

Grant U. Fisher of This City Will be Present at Meeting of State Livestock Sanitary Board.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 22.—Widely varying views on the part of members of the state livestock sanitary board and university agricultural professors on one side and the state veterinarian, Dr. A. H. Hartwig, on the other, over the administration of the tuberculin testing law are expected to reach a crisis at a meeting of the board here today. The board and the university people maintain the elimination of tuberculosis from Wisconsin cattle will be given a serious setback if the operation of the tests be left only to professional veterinarians, as at present, and declare that licensed testers other than veterinarians should be permitted to assist in the campaign.

The state veterinarian backs his policy on a recent opinion of the attorney general by which licensed veterinarians are allowed to make the tests. This has displaced over a thousand testers who were operating chiefly under the direction of the state agricultural colleges. In the main these were recent students at the university and farmers who had been taught to test their own herds. Dr. Hartwig now, the opponents say, is endeavoring to approve any of the tests made by these people or to condemn any animal until it has been passed upon by a veterinarian and subjected to a clinical test.

To justify his stand, State Veterinarian Hartwig presents figures to show that since the amended law has been operated under his administration the number of tested cattle showing no lesions was but 2 per cent, whereas he says, on July 1, 1910, the percentage showing no lesions was 22.52, and for the year previous it was 23 per cent. His figures are not accepted by the university authorities, and they say that even if Dr. Hartwig's figures were correct they do not prove his case because the federal subsidy for lesions but to pass upon the ability of the meat.

The livestock sanitary board consists of George Wills, Morrisville; Grant U. Fisher, Janesville; Charles Everett, Racine; and the state veterinarian, Dr. A. H. Hartwig, Watertown, and the bacteriologist of the agricultural college, Dr. E. G. Hastings. The sanitary board is elected by the state board of agriculture, the members of which are appointed by the governor.

TO CROWN NEW KING OF SIAM NEXT MONTH

Col. Leo Feilbiger of Sixth Cavalry to Represent United States at Coronation.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Announcement of the appointment of Col. Leo Feilbiger, commanding the Sixth Cavalry, now in the Philippines, to represent the United States as military attaché at the coronation of the King of Siam draws public attention to the coronation that will make the city of Bangkok a centre of attraction early next month. The pending nations of the world will be represented at the coronation. Prince Pishit has been named to head the Japanese delegation and England is sending an embassy headed by Prince Louis of Battenberg. France, Germany, Italy and other European nations also are sending special ambassadors.

The coronation and festivities in connection with the crowning of the new King will extend over an entire week. From every part of the Siam kingdom the princes and nobles and military and civil officials will assemble in the capital to renew their allegiance to the new sovereign. The tenor of the oath that they are required to take on this occasion seems to show how Siam has preserved its own identity. Here are some of the phrases used in it:

"We pray the powers of the deities to plague with poisonous bolts and with all manner of horrible diseases the disobedient, the disaffected, and the treacherous. When they have departed this life may they be sent to horrible hell."

The new King, whose full name is Somdet Chulalongkorn Rajavidyaluk, succeeded to the throne upon the death of his father a year ago last October. He was born about 30 years ago and was proclaimed Crown Prince when he was 15. He was educated in England and learned soldiering at Sandhurst, Aldershot and Potsdam. Later he spent some time in Paris, and then having acquired a good conversational acquaintance with both English and French, he was sent back to his country to go into training for the duties which he would later have to perform.

ADVANCED GROUND FOUND IN RULING

RAILWAY COMMISSION MAKES DECISION FAVORING CITY INSTEAD OF CORPORATION.

Opinion is Liable to Cause Considerable Comment in View of Previous Cases Tried.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 22.—The state railroad commission took advanced ground today in laying down the principle that public utility companies which have their rates on an excessive valuation are not giving a square deal to the consuming public. In ruling in favor of the city of Neenah against the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Company, the commission characterized the purchase of the plant by John L. Bees for a price over $500,000 as a "grossly unfair" investment which should not be added upon the respondent company's owners. The commission holds that the purchase price was an unwise investment because not a prudent investment.

The Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company maintains a gas plant at Appleton, which supplies gas for the cities of Appleton, Neenah and Menasha. The railroad commission some time ago ordered a new rate for gas, reducing it by about twenty-five per cent. Mr. Bees appealed, asking for a rehearing on the ground that the valuation upon which the commission fixed the gas rate was too low. He claimed to have paid over $500,000 for the plant in 1904. The commission said the plant was not worth much over $200,000. In the rehearing the company asked the commission to fix the valuation nearer to the figure which it was claimed had been paid for it, taking into account additions that had been made, and also asked that the rates be raised to yield returns based upon the desired increased valuation. It was claimed that the valuation of $220,000 upon which the commission's rates were based is lower by over $300,000 than the actual price paid for the original property and for subsequent additions.

"It is plain," said the commission today, "that if an appraisal of the items of property bought by the respondent company in 1904 shows a total reasonable value considerably lower, or than the price claimed to have been paid, the excess in price over such reasonable value represents an unprofitable investment which should not be added upon the respondent's owners."

The commission then compares the sales of gas with other cities where valuations have been made by the commission, and notes that in the two cities having the highest valuation the sales were very small compared with the sales in Neenah, Menasha and Appleton. The minimum figure, that for Kenosha is about twice as large as the sales in the gas sold was purchased and not manufactured by the utility. These tabulations show:

City	Sales million cu. ft.	Investment million per 1,000 cu. ft.
City	4.38	8.32
Appleton	6.02	8.51
Menasha	10.32	4.21
Neenah	36.34	4.05
Kenosha	40.71	6.78
Superior	48.87	4.43
Appleton	48.88	4.91
La Crosse	57.73	5.08
Kenosha	62.48	3.64
Madison	81.24	2.94
Rock	104.18	3.72
Racine	182.20	4.79

The average investment per thousand cubic feet sold is 5.11; the minimum 2.94; the maximum 8.51; and the median 4.61. The commission holds that if the amount of the securities paid for the plant by the company is to be taken as representing the original cost, the investment per thousand feet of gas sold was over twice as high as the average plant investment in the cities named. The commission in the Neenah case said that the earnings of the plant are still another proof of the excessiveness of a figure over $500,000 as the price of the plant purchased by the company.

"Whatever may be the condition at the present day," the commission comments, "it cannot be denied that overcapitalization has been common among public utilities in the past. To amount public utility cases the figures represented by bonds of the respondents and by its guarantee of the purchase of the plant from which it purchased, would be decidedly unsafe, even if there were not positive and convincing evidence that the property was not worth the amount claimed. It is hardly to be expected that men of the experience and business ability of the officers of the respondent company, who must have been cognizant of the actual condition of the property, either intended to, or actually did make payment in securities whose real value was some $500,000 higher than the actual value of the property. The respondent has failed to prove to the satisfaction of the commission either that the plant, when purchased by respondent was worth over half of the amount claimed to have been paid, or that the property of the value claimed by respondents was turned over as the consideration for the transfer of the plant."

The commission said that the $500,000 claimed to have been spent on additions to the plant if added to the commission's estimate of the physical value of the property would make a total of the property worth some $1,000,000 which would not equal the $520,000 upon which the commission in its former decision in part based its calculations as to the rates. The previous order of the commission is confirmed, therefore.

The new rates will apply to Appleton as well as to Neenah. The city of Neenah was represented by City Attorney C. H. Gaffney, and the lighting company by C. M. Rosenkrantz of Milwaukee.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM ROCK COUNTY TRAINING SCHOOL

Items Regarding New Institution Will Be Published Every Saturday—Recent Happenings.

With the editor's permission the teachers and students of the Training School propose to run on Saturday of each week in the columns of the Gazette such items as may be of interest to the general reader in different parts of Rock County.

Our school is small, but we are busy each day doing those things which will best prepare the teacher for her work. It is of our work and the events of our school life that we shall write, feeling that the people would like to know something of the character of the school and of what the teachers and students are doing.

Teachers' Training School Notes. The teachers and students are busily engaged in preparing for the Thanksgiving banquet and program to be given Tuesday evening, November 28th. The banquet will be given at the home of Principal and Mrs. Lowth, and the program in the training school rooms.

Professor Geo. C. Shurtz, acting president of the Whitewater normal visited the school on Friday, Nov. 17 and spoke to the students at the afternoon session.

Hereafter the school will have an accurate record of all important events pertaining to the school. This record will be read each week at the meeting of the literary society.

Two of our students, Miss Corinne Crundall of Milton Junction and Miss Alice Wilder of Evansville, came and gave each day on the train, and thus board at home.

On June 14th, 1912, twelve young women expect to receive Training School Diplomas which will qualify them to teach in any country school and in the grades of any city or village school in Rock County.

Two girls report each week on Current Events so that we are all keeping posted on the important news of the world.

The reading class has been studying some stimulating selections from Shakespeare.

We have had quite a number of visitors this fall, but we would like to see more.

A new program went into effect Wednesday morning. Under Miss Hinkmeyer's direction the construction class has made very neat covers for menu and program booklets to be used Nov. 28.

The school management class has been making colored diagrams of a system for heating and ventilating country school houses.

We run classes in spelling and writing the year around. Such training is needed.

Miss Jackson has partially catalogued our library of some 350 reference books. The library class will complete the work in the spring.

NEW STREET LIGHTS VOTED AT EDGERTON

Common Council in Meeting Last Night Ordered Three New Lamps—Other Edgerton News.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Edgerton, Nov. 22.—The common council met last night in regular session and while little business was transacted the meeting was an important one. Besides allowing four bills, three new street lights were ordered to be erected on Main, Swift and Randolph streets, the same to be placed under direction of the street commissioner.

Curled This Morning. The funeral of the late Michael Durkin was held this morning at St. Joseph's Catholic church at ten o'clock. Rev. J. E. Martin officiating. A large concourse of friends gathered to pay respects to the departed. Those in attendance from a distance were: Mrs. M. J. Brennan, Mrs. Pat. Connor, Janesville; Mrs. McAdams, Miss Frances McAdams, Milton Junction; Miss Teresa Durkin, Chicago.

Personal. Joseph J. Leary is at Whitewater and Palmyra today on business.

Henry Abbott left last night for Yankton, S. D., being called there through the illness of a brother who resides there.

Mrs. Charles R. Bentley left this morning for Pittsburgh, Penn., on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Nellie Allen, expecting to remain there until after the holidays.

The last club dance of the present series will be held Friday evening in Academy hall.

OBITUARY.

Ferdinand Schumaker. Last rites for the late Ferdinand Schumaker will be held tomorrow afternoon from the late home 1212 Pond avenue, at one o'clock, and at St. Paul's German Lutheran church at two o'clock. The Rev. C. J. Koerner will read the service.

Orpha Almyra Waggoner. Funeral services for the late Orpha Almyra Waggoner will be conducted at ten o'clock tomorrow morning at the Seventh Day Adventist church, better known as the "Kibbitt Mission." The Rev. W. W. Stobbs will be the officiating pastor.

Mrs. Jesse Crandall. William L. Crandall of Milton, Wis., received the sad news by telegram from Los Angeles, Cal., announcing the death of Mrs. Jesse Crandall, who formerly lived in Janesville.

HOLD MEETING TO MAKE PROVISIONS FOR STUDENTS. School Meeting Being Held This Afternoon in Willowdale District.

At a school meeting held this afternoon by the residents in Joint district No. 1, Rock, Center, Plymouth and Janesville to make provisions for the school attendance of the pupils of this school which was destroyed by the cyclone. The meeting was called by the board of which James Crane is clerk. It is thought probable that some provision will be made to carry the children to another school, as has been advised by County Superintendent O. D. Antlad.

STOCK COMPANY IS BIG DRAWING CARD

Ethel May Still Accomplishing Wonders as a Fortune Teller—Large Attendance at Performances.

Ethel May, the Mystery Girl appearing at the Myers Theatre this week, is undoubtedly one of the most wonderful women in the world and she herself cannot account for the strange power she possesses.

She is a precise and lady both on and off the stage and a gifted conversationalist. She says this strange gift first manifested itself to her when she was eleven years old. At first relatives and friends laughed at her and thought it was some trick she was perpetrating upon them. She found her wonderful gift of use to her in locating lost articles, and after she had received instructions from a noted psychologist her unusual mental endowment put to flight the doubts of skeptics and all others inclined to question the truthfulness of her claims. Miss May says she cannot explain her strange power of peering into the minds about her. She says another spirit of higher power appears to take possession of her body and during this transition she performs the feats on the stage which have made her the wonderment of the world. While in this state of mind she answers all manner of questions for people in the audience regarding business affairs, love matters, and all sorts of odd and remarkable occurrences, seldom, if ever, making a mistake. Miss May says the longest time she ever remained in this state was thirty minutes and if she had endured the strain longer she would have fainted. Off the stage she forgets her strange power and never allows it to worry her. Although possessing powers along the spiritualistic medium she says she has no spiritualistic powers for no manifestations have ever come to her. During the life of her mother they were always the greatest of chums and that since her death, although she has often tried to communicate with her spirit, all efforts have failed. She says she would be the happiest woman in the world if she could communicate with her mother in the spirit land.

In the time that Miss May has been giving public readings from the stage she has achieved a reputation in this manifestation of her mental genius second to none in the known world. Her mind works very rapidly and under conditions are right she performs her mental feat with remarkable speed. The more intelligent the audience the better she succeeds, for then her mind works more clearly. A wonderful woman is Miss May and the possibilities of her great mental attributes are beyond estimate.

Rules are changed for awarding "W's"

Members of Wisconsin Football Squad Must Play Whole Conference or Part of Championship Game to Get Emblem.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Nov. 22.—The athletic council of the University of Wisconsin took action last night, changing the rules under which the official "W" is awarded to football players. Hereafter a man must play in one-half of each of two conference games or one whole game of that class. Or, if he plays only one minute in a championship game he is entitled to his "W." Men to whom the "W" will this year be awarded are: Hoefel, Roberts, Mackinell, Heyrod, Chambers, Brumand, Busser, Ostad, Lang, Butler, Moll, Gillette, Tumberg, Bright, Van Riper, Pollock and Sump.

It is understood that "Middle" Gillette is in the running for captain of the Badgers next year. Hoefel is the only other candidate mentioned.

The train was occupied with the freshmen on the late at Camp Randall yesterday afternoon, being put through a lively skinship. The gates were closed.

Hopes for a reduced rate to Chicago next Saturday are blasted by the announcement that it will not be granted. Several hundred rooters will make the trip, however, for the last game of the year.

BEGIN TRIAL OF THE STATE VS. FARRELL

Motion of Defendant's Attorney For Write of Abatement Denied—Start Examination of Witnesses.

The trial of the case of the State versus Thomas Farrell of the town of Turtle charged with serious crime, was opened in the municipal court this morning and resumed at two o'clock this afternoon. J. J. Cunningham, attorney for the defendant, entered a motion this morning for a writ of abatement, alleging that the complaint was not properly made out, that it should have been made by the injured party. He also entered a plea of insanity. At the resumption of the trial this afternoon Judge Field listened to citations alleged to support this contention, and to the citations and arguments of District Attorney Stanley Dunwiddie upholding the legality of the complaint. The motion of the defense was denied. The motion of Attorney Dunwiddie that all not directly interested in the case be excluded from the court room was lost, as was also that of Attorney Cunningham for the exclusion of a certain party during the examination of witnesses. The first witness was then called to the stand. A number of town of Turtle people were here this afternoon as witnesses and interested spectators.

Judge Here Monday: Judge Grimm will be at the court house Monday to hear matters on the October calendar, which are scheduled to come before the court. It is possible that a calendar may be arranged at that time.

Meeting Postponed: The special meeting of the Wisconsin Lodge No. 1, F. O. B. which was to have been held this evening has been postponed until next Wednesday evening.

LINK AND PIN. INTERESTING FIGURES ABOUT OUR RAILROADS

Facts Compiled for the Reader so that An Idea is Easily Gained of the Greatness of Railroads.

The following is a number of comparisons compiled by some individual who, evidently had nothing else in particular to do, and by reading them the reader can gain much information, which otherwise would escape his notice, as the following figures are capable of producing results than would a large amount of plain figures.

The 2,100,000 freight cars of the railroads of the United States, valued at $2,500,000,000, and capable of holding 147,000,000 pounds at a time, are sufficient to form a train around the earth at the latitude of Chicago.

In them are loaded annually over 1,500,000,000 tons of freight, each ton of which is carried 161 miles. This is equal to hauling one ton almost 220,000,000,000 miles.

The 46,000 passenger cars of the railroads of the United States, valued at $300,000,000, are capable of seating at one time, 2,300,000 people, and if pressed for room, would accommodate probably 3,000,000 persons.

They transport, annually almost 900,000,000 passengers, each of whom rides approximately thirty-three miles, radically, therefore, one passenger is hauled 30,000,000,000 miles.

There are 57,000 locomotives doing service for the railroads of this country, 47,000 of which are used to transport people and warms. The total number is estimated to be worth no less than $1,000,000,000.

The freight and passenger locomotives alone cover eight and one-half million miles in a single year.

The engines consume annually fuel and water enough to cost the public carriers of the country $218,000,000, the effect of the distribution of which is felt in every nook and corner in the land.

Yet the owners of these vast facilities, rendering so tremendous a service to the people of the country, received for the year ending June 30, 1909, only $235,000,000 in dividends on a total capitalization of $14,000,000,000.

The tracks of the United States, 350,000 miles, would build a railroad from the earth to the moon, and 100,000 miles beyond, or 133 transcontinental railroads.

The rails of the 350,000 miles of our tracks weigh approximately 43,000,000 tons, and would counter balance the weight of three-fourths of the people of the earth. There are enough to form eighty-two steel rods with which to skewer the earth.

To hold the rails to the ties, in round numbers, thirty times as many spikes are necessary, 300,000,000, as the number of stars which over the known laws and the sensitive film of the camera have been able to reveal. The cost of these spikes alone is approximately $30,000,000.

Practically 900,000,000 ties, 7,500,000 feet long, receive these spikes.

To transport, each passenger in the United States the railroads move four and one half tons of equipment or dead weight, usually only in making it possible to carry a passenger in safety and comfort.

For each family in the United States the railroads ship seventy-five tons annually this is equal to one ton being shipped a total distance of 11,250 miles.

Each inhabitant of the United States takes approximately ten trips on the railroads yearly of 33 miles each. The cost of this service is only one and seven-tenths per capita, and nothing if he does not choose to travel.

SHOPMEN CONFERENCE IS HELD IN CHICAGO

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Nov. 22.—Officials of the shopmen went into conference early today and it was said they were prepared to spend the entire day discussing the advisability of a strike.

The conference was held behind closed doors.

MORAN SALOON WAS ROBBED LAST NIGHT

Milwaukee Street Business Place Burglarized and Eighteen Dollars Taken From Cash Register.

The saloon of T. F. Moran on Milwaukee street was burglarized last night and eighteen dollars in cash stolen. No other property was found missing. The robbery, which was performed in the same manner as two other saloon burglaries in Janesville which occurred within the last six weeks, had been effected by someone who had arranged to be closed inside when the saloon was closed for the night. The back door had been looked from the inside and neither the lock nor the door had been forced open. The other saloons which have been robbed in this manner were those of Van Houten & Dalton on Milwaukee street, and of Tom Abbott, on South Main street. The similarity and frequency of the robberies indicates that they were the work of local talent.

SEEK INFORMATION AS TO A DEAD MAN

Police Department Notified That Man Thought to Be From This City Killed Near Dale.

This afternoon the police department was notified by Dr. Johnson of Dale, acting for the coroner, stating that the body of a man, about 25, six feet tall, with clothes torn from his body and the corpse horribly mangled had been found near the railroad tracks. It was thought to be from Janesville and a number by trade, Chief Appleby will make a thorough investigation of the case and try and locate the missing man's parents or friends.

SERIOUS CONDITION OF MRS. BRADLEY

Suffered For Two Years Until Tonsa Vita Brought Improvement.

"No one but those who have suffered like I have know how miserable I have been the last two years," declared Mrs. Edward Bradley, of 2707 Carnegie avenue, Cleveland, in discussing the value of "Tonsa Vita," the remarkable new tonic.

"I had stomach trouble," continued Mrs. Bradley, "and was nervous and completely run down all the time. The slightest noise or exertion would startle me, and I suffered with palpitation of the heart, which would flutter and beat rapidly for minutes afterward."

"While in such a state fainting spells would overcome me and my condition would alarm my family. I had no ambition and my household duties became a drudgery. I suffered with headaches of the most violent type; my back continually pained me, and I would frequently feel, in my helpless, hopeless condition, like screaming at the top of my voice for some relief."

"Several neighbors urged me to try 'Tonsa Vita,' and I finally yielded. The effect of 'Tonsa Vita' in my case was immediate. I had scarcely taken three doses before I felt relief and began to improve. I have now taken two bottles and I feel and act like a new woman. I must look improved, too, for my friends all tell me that I look as young as a girl. The past week has been the happiest I've spent in two years. I shall tell all suffering women and men I see about this new medicine. It certainly produces results, and I feel grateful."

"Thousands of men and women in all cities like Janesville are suffering with the same rundown, listless, depressed condition which is produced by over-worked, up-nerved, an over-worked brain and an over-worked stomach, say the physicians who are introducing 'Tonsa Vita.' 'There is something behind this all, however,' continue these physicians, 'and it is nothing other than the strain of modern city life and an artificial environment. Every day of their lives these people are exceeding nature's limitation and they go carelessly along, neglecting to take time to even realize the serious results until it is too late and debility has set in in its most dangerous form. Nervousness, sleeplessness, imperfect digestion, stomach and bowel troubles, constipation, poor circulation, cold feet, listlessness, loss of energy and ambition and depression are characteristic symptoms of this trouble, which will be quickly and permanently removed by our preparation.'"

Smith Drug Co. has secured the agency for "Tonsa Vita" in Janesville and the celebrated tonic is now on sale at their store.

The Difference. The man who saves when he has little is called stingy. He that saves when he has much is said to be judicious.

The Real Consideration. The great thing in this world is not so much where we stand as where we are going.—Holmes.

Utterly Wretched

Nervous Prostration Long Endured Before Remedy was Found.

Miss Minerva Reininger, Upper Bern, Pa., writes: "For several years I had nervous prostration and was utterly wretched. I lived on bread and beef tea because my stomach would not retain anything else. I took many remedies, but obtained no relief until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I began to gain at once. Am now cured."

Pure, rich blood makes good health, nervous and this is why Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and enriches the blood, cures so many nervous diseases. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

ONE THOUSAND EDUCATORS WILL MEET AT OSHKOSH

Preparations Are Under Way For Northeastern Wisconsin Teachers' Association Convention.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 22.—D. M. Deeman of this city has announced that at least 1,000 educators will gather at the annual meeting of the Northeastern Wisconsin Teachers' association at Oshkosh in February. Mr. Deeman is president, Hooker T. Washington and Jacob Ellis of New York are among the prominent speakers engaged.

Honor Memory of Bishop Galloway. Jackson, Miss., Nov. 22.—A large oil portrait of the late Bishop Charles D. Galloway, "the mission Bishop of Methodism," was formally presented today to Millsaps College, of which institution he was one of the trustees from the opening of the college until the day of his death. Leading participants in the presentation exercises included Bishop Branton of Mississippi, Bishop Chandler of Georgia and Dr. D. C. Hull, president of the college.

Costliest of Apple Trees. Probably the highest price ever paid for an apple tree was $600 which David Junkin of Lin County, Oregon, received two weeks ago for a 13-year-old seedling which grows in a fence corner on his farm. This tree is as remarkable as the price for which it was sold. It yields ripe apples every month from May to November, and the fruit is rich in quality as well as prodigious in quantity. During the period named the tree bears ripe fruit, green fruit, buds and blossoms all at the same time just as the orange tree in Florida does. The purchaser of this tree has stipulated that it shall remain where it is, but that he shall receive all its fruit for ten years. He is dreaming of an orchard of "ever-bearing" apple trees.

GREYS TAKE THREE GAMES FROM BROWNS

Fast and Accurate Bowling Results in Good Scores For Greys in Match Last Night.

Fast and accurate bowling on the part of the members of the Grey team resulted in consistently high scores and the defeat of the Browns in three straight games at Hockett's alley last evening. The margin of victory in the first game was 13 pins, but a more substantial difference was shown in the second and third, the Greys scoring 82 and 122 pins respectively over their opponents. Parlier, for the Browns, did some good work, securing the high score for the evening and approaching the mark of the season. He rolled a total of 212 pins in the first game and some good marks in the other games. The scores were as follows:

BROWNS
Welcott, capt.	115	125	128
G. Baumann	120	136	153

LAKOTA CARDINALS WILL OPEN SEASON

Local Basketball Aggregation Will Play First Game With Picked Team December 2nd.

Manager Langdon of the Lakota Cardinals has announced that the first basketball game of the season will be played on the evening of Saturday Dec. 2nd, with a team picked from the high school and Y. M. C. A. squads. Other games for the season are being negotiated and some fast contests are promised. Many of the aggregations which played here last season have been secured and old rivalries will be renewed. Dates for these games have not been determined but will be announced in the near future. The tentative line-up as now arranged is:

AT THEATER

THE UNIVERSITY BAND. Conductor Mann has a novel way of selecting his musicians for their respective positions. The men are selected by a competitive tryout process. At the beginning of the school year every musician in school has an opportunity of being heard before an examining board composed of members of the staff of the university school of music, including Conductor Mann. From the list of applicants the conductor forms a tentative membership list. The band is then called together and within a month or six weeks of trial the regular membership is announced. However, the unsuccessful applicants are not dropped even though they do not make a place in the band. Conductor Mann keeps close watch of them and at any time that any of these applicants proves himself superior to any of the regular band men, the new man is given a membership and the "regular" man is taken out. In this way the efficiency of the band is kept at a high degree, and men that are on the edge are constantly working hard to improve themselves so as to hold their places. Last fall about one hundred and fifty men tried for the band—more than three men for each position. The training for the appreciation of good music, it is said, consists in listening attentively to a great deal of it where it is well rendered. Those of you who already now and appreciate good music will be given a real treat in hearing the University Regimental Band. Those who have not yet learned to appreciate the classics will have an excellent opportunity to start training.

Capt. C. A. Mann, conductor of the University Regimental Band is himself a musician of considerable note. The University Regimental Band will be at Myers' Theater Sunday, Nov. 26, matinee and evening.

BELOIT-JANESVILLE GAME FOR SATURDAY

Line City Eleven Want a Chance to Make Up for Defeat Sustained at the Hands of Local Team.

Saturday afternoon of this week the local high school football squad will clash with their old rival, Beloit. The game will be played on the home field and as far as is known at present it will be the last game of the season. About two weeks ago the local team journeyed to Beloit and handed out to the Line City boys a score of 25 to 0. In spite of this trouncing, the Beloit team is eager to meet the local team and will give them a good game, they claim.

The record of the local squad has been a very successful one this past season. Out of the entire schedule of high school games, the local team has lost but two games, one with Whitewater and the other with Jefferson. In the first game of the season, which happened to be with Whitewater, the local squad were beaten. However, it was hoped that they could wipe that stain out when Whitewater came here to play the return game, as was scheduled. Then Whitewater cancelled the game, stating that their team had disbanded, and yet it has been learned that they are going to take on Jefferson this coming Saturday. If this is true, the local authorities will endeavor to get a game with them for Thanksgiving day, which would then be the last game.

U. W. WILL HAVE BUT FOUR PLAYERS LEFT

Seven of This Year's Team Graduate, But Material Is Not Lacking For Champion Eleven in 1912.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 22.—Although Wisconsin's line from tackle to tackle will be gone next year through graduation, there is an abundance of star men left—many of them with considerable experience. Moll, Pollock, Branstad, Neprud and Mackmiller, Hosen and Roberts will play their last game for Wisconsin next Saturday. Next year's material will include Torrey, Tanberg, Van Riper, Bright, Orville, Lange, Butler, Hooft, Van Ghent, and Hecce, not to mention a score of promising lesser lights. Van Ghent weighs over two hundred pounds and is fast. Butler will probably be shifted from end, where he has played, all season, to tackle.

Gillette, although he will be back next year, will be ineligible for football. Hooft, the Green Bay boy, who played a great season at end, is hoped for next year's captain.

Speculations on all-western honors this year gives recognition to several Judger players. Hosen is regarded as deserving of the tackle position, Mackmiller and Neprud as guards, and Moll as quarterback. Although the training for the appreciation of good music, it is said, consists in listening attentively to a great deal of it where it is well rendered. Those of you who already now and appreciate good music will be given a real treat in hearing the University Regimental Band. Those who have not yet learned to appreciate the classics will have an excellent opportunity to start training.

Capt. C. A. Mann, conductor of the University Regimental Band is himself a musician of considerable note. The University Regimental Band will be at Myers' Theater Sunday, Nov. 26, matinee and evening.

Conch Richards says he does not believe that Chicago put up her best front against Minnesota after the first touchdown and that the score, 3 to 0, does not include the Maroon's real strength. Therefore he expects another heart-breaking contest at Chicago next Saturday.

The money was put through a signal drill Monday afternoon in the livestock pavilion, in two inches of snow covering the Camp Randall gridiron.

Keeble Moll has dampened student spirit by saying that he does not expect to play in the Chicago game on account of an injury to his leg last Saturday. There are still a few days left for Trainer Bernstein to doctor the member, and it is a fair guess that Moll will be seen on Marshall field in what will be the last game of his collegiate career.

The University of Wisconsin realized approximately $12,000 from the Minnesota game.

EDGERTON GIRL WINS HONORS AT LAWRENCE

Jessie North Receives Scholarship of One Hundred Dollars in Freshman Contest.

Appleton, Wis., Nov. 22.—The winners of the freshman scholarships in Lawrence college were announced in the chapel Tuesday morning. The prizes going to Hannah Benay of Appleton, formerly of Neenah, and Jessie North of Edgerton.

The scholarships, each of which are worth $100, are awarded to freshmen on the basis of a competitive examination, held a few days after the opening of the fall semester, in the high school, subjects of English, Latin and Mathematics. All students regularly matriculated in the college as freshman, without entrance examinations or condition, and enrolled as members in the above classes are eligible to participate in the competition. The successful candidates are to continue to be acceptable in character and demeanor and to maintain their high class standing throughout the year, under penalty of forfeiting their scholarships.

Miss Jessie North, winner of the Lawrence scholarship, received her early education in the South, but later entered the Edgerton high school from which she graduated in 1909. Her father, William North, and her mother, Elizabeth Nelson-North, were both students at Lawrence but later graduated from the state university at Madison.

Bride Belongs To Noted Family.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 21.—A large gathering of spectators, belonging to the exclusive social circles of Philadelphia and other large eastern cities, filled St. Peter's Episcopal church, Third and Pine streets, at noon today, when Miss Gladys Eleanor Powell, daughter of Wilfred Powell, British consul at this port and granddaughter of General Robert S. Baden-Powell, the famous hero of the Boer war, was married to the Rev. Percy James Brown, senior curate of St. Peter's and recently appointed dean of the Episcopal cathedral at Manila, P. I. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Coadjutor Dr. Philip M. Rhinelander, assisted by the rector of the church, Rev. E. M. Jeffers and the Rev. James Baden-Powell, an uncle of the bride, who came from London. Miss Mary L. Powell, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and Gilbert Harvey best man. Tomorrow the couple will sail for England where they will spend their honeymoon before departing for Manila.

For temporary deposits take CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT.

They are payable on demand and draw interest if left four months.

REASONS WHY

You should invest your surplus money in MORTGAGE LOANS and not in bond issues.

Millions of dollars in bonds have been repudiated.

Interest rates are too low for you to invest in bond issues.

Too much time is required to investigate the legality of bond issues.

In case of default on municipal bonds years are required to recover judgment.

If you are a citizen of the community you help to pay your own security.

If you buy a mortgage loan you own the property on one only condition—that the debt is paid when due.

In case of default you get your security in a short space of time, without further expense to you.

In case of mortgage loan the investment is direct and simple and is subject to your control.

GORDON BLOCK TO BE REMODELED

This Means A Sacrifice Sale on the Part of E. W. Lowell.

Due to the decision of the owner of the Gordon Block, in this city, to remodel it in the early spring, it will be necessary for the present tenants to move, in order to do this the Mr. Lowell has inaugurated a stove and range sale to commence tomorrow. All stoves and ranges in this large stock are to be closed out at cost, as there is no place to move them during the remodeling operation. This is the celebrated Acorn line and every stove user knows all about the Acorn goods. They are backed up by 50 years experience and lead all other stoves in construction, economy of fuel consumption, beauty and utility, and if you can use a stove now or in the near future, it will pay you to look in on this sale.

COUNTRY LIFE IN SCOTLAND.

Dr. A. S. Alexander, professor of veterinary science in the University of Wisconsin, has kindly consented to deliver his lecture on "Country Life in Scotland," illustrated with stereoscopic views, on Friday evening, Nov. 24, in the Presbyterian church, at 8 o'clock.

This entertainment will be both interesting and instructive and as there is no admission charge it is hoped that there will be a large attendance. Come and bring your friends.

ADMIRING VISITORS COME IN THOUSANDS

GREAT CROWDS FILL THE RINK DAILY AT INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.

SHOW GREAT SUCCESS

Most Favorable Comment is Heard on Every Side—Many Novel Exhibits Attract Attention.

It is estimated that nearly seven thousand people attended the Janesville Manufacturers' exhibition at the rink yesterday. The crowd was equally divided between the afternoon and evening and there was no time during the day that the building was not well filled with admiring visitors. In spite of the drizzling rain this afternoon there was also a large number of persons present.

The attendance as well as the favorable comment which is heard on every side is especially gratifying to the promoters of the show and especially to Secretary F. E. Laine, who has spared neither time nor effort to make the exhibition one of the biggest booster events in the history of Janesville.

Viewed from every standpoint the show is pronounced a great success and it only remains for continued record-breaking attendance to make the event one to be remembered in the annals of industrial Janesville. As a means of advertising the goods of the various factories it will tend to have a stimulating effect on trade, in the opinion of some of the dealers. Later in the week visitors from out of the city are expected in large numbers both from the country and the neighboring towns.

At many of the booths attractive folders are given out telling of the kind and quality of product displayed. All of the exhibits are in charge of men who are thoroughly acquainted with the industry represented and are glad to answer any reasonable questions which may be asked by the interested observer.

One of the special points of interest yesterday and today was the splendid booth occupied by T. P. McKelvie, manufacturer of Grand Duct, Duct and City Hall cigars, which are popular with Janesville smokers. Several expert cigar makers were busy making cigars exactly as the work is done in the factory. The speed and excellence of the workmanship with which the "smokes" were turned out, insured an interested crowd of spectators at all times.

One of the exhibits which lends a rare touch of color and beauty to the entire show is the peerless collection of cut flowers and growing plants of the Fairview greenhouse. Located on the south side this booth draws its share of attention and praise.

Several new exhibits were placed in position yesterday, among them the booth of the Parker Pen company. The sides of the booth are decorated with attractive posters and the pens in various stages of workmanship are exhibited.

The Williamson Pen company has a fine display of their product. Pens of all sizes and shapes are shown and the "auto feed" feature of their product is explained.

The display of the Dicknell Manufacturing and Supply Company was installed yesterday, and consists of the suburban electric lighting plant which is now being put out and equipped by the company. A small gasoline engine is fitted to run a dynamo and the current is stored in a storage battery. A board of thirty lights is run by this equipment.

Not the least point of interest is the ballot box where hundreds of guesses have already been deposited on the number of kernels of corn in the jar which is placed on top of the ballot box. The guessing slips may be obtained at the Gazette booth. The prizes for those coming nearest to the correct amount are $25, $15 and $10.

One visit does not suffice for most people who plan on coming every evening to hear the concert given by the Flower City band. The future of the show alone draws large crowds every evening. Their program for tonight will be:

- 1—Imperial Life Guards March.
- 2—Tutti in Africa.
- 3—Idealistic Overture.
- 4—Pavane.
- 5—Soft Kiss, Waltzes.
- 6—Popular Medley.
- 7—Sliding Pete, Novelty.
- 8—Black Flag, March.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

The Woman's Club of the Congregational church met yesterday in the church parlors to sew for their Christmas sale which will be held in December.

Very pretty crucifixes, medallions, rosaries and statues at low prices. St. Joseph's Convent. Now stock just in. There will be a regular meeting of the Bon-Tur lodge at their rooms tonight. All members requested to be present. Katherine McDonald, chief. Pin money in wiping rag—look them up—clean ones bring 34c per pound at The Gazette.

The Home Department of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. C. L. Totten, 405 Fourth avenue, Thursday afternoon.

The local English says: "It looks as though Boyer's experiments were about to result in a culinary revolution that will displace pots and pans from the kitchen, prove more economical and make all food treated more savory."

Our women readers will find full particulars in The Chicago Daily News, which is publishing descriptive articles and recipes every day. ADV. The Woodman of the World will give a social dance Friday evening, November 24th. Admission to outsiders, 25c.

WATER HEARING TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Rate Commission Will Probably Listen to Water Company's Appeal From Decision at That Time.

The rehearing of the case of the city versus the Janesville Water company before the rate commission, indefinitely adjourned because of the illness of M. G. Jeffris, counsel for the water company, will probably be held the latter part of next week, according to City Attorney Maxfield. The company appeals from the decision of the commission compelling the company to pay for and install meters and also protest other rulings made as to rates and service.

U. S. Department of Agriculture.
WEATHER BUREAU
WILLIS L. MOORE, Chief.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.
The area of high atmospheric pressure that was passing over the Mississippi valley yesterday, has now reached the Appalachian Mountain region. It is attended by clear weather, favorable to radiation of heat from the ground, so that low temperatures for the season were recorded in the Southeastern States.
The area of low atmospheric pressure in the Canadian Northwest has reached western Ontario, and is attended by a trough that extends southward over the Plains to Texas. A secondary disturbance has developed in this trough over Oklahoma and western Texas, and will probably move northward over the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys today and tonight, attended by high winds and heavy rain or snow.
An area of high atmospheric pressure has made its appearance in the Northwest, and is attended by a 25 degree drop in temperature in Al-berta.
The forecast for this vicinity is rain or snow tonight, probably continuing into Thursday. It will be colder Thursday.

MAY YOH-MEALLIFE
FROM PEERLESS TO PENURY
May Yoh, the woman of a hundred loves, wife of four men and the favorite of many others, the woman who proudly wore the world famous Hope blue diamond, and one of those husbands bore a proud old name and was a member of the House of Lords, Lord Francis Hope, has for two weeks past been living in Chicago in dire penury, almost starvation with her husband, Jack McAlliffe, former world's light-weight champion pugilist.
The woman whose remarkable romance amazed the world, rising from a humble chorus girl in a burlesque troupe to a social position at the British Court equal to those for which the Vanderbilts and Gaults have poured out their gold without stint, Mrs. May Yoh-Hope-Strong-Keenbold, McAlliffe, was compelled to implore aid and transportation from Chicago to New York was forwarded to her by a relative.
Forty dollars was deposited with the Pittsburg agent of the Lake Shore Railway so that the Chicago agent would issue two tickets one for her pugilist husband and one for herself.
Reason in Animals.
Watson in "The Reasoning Power of Animals" holds that they reason; Romanes in "Animal Intelligence" is inclined to the belief that some have reason and others sense, while James in "Psychology" holding that "dogs have sense to protect their owner's property, though never so taught."

OSCAR UNDERWOOD
Oscar W. Underwood, represents the ninth district of Alabama. He is a Democrat of Birmingham; was born in Louisville, Jefferson County, Kentucky May 6, 1862. He was educated at Rugby School, Louisville, Ky., and the University of Virginia. He has served in Congress from the 54th to the 61st session and was recently re-elected to the 62nd Congress. Has been placed on the most important committees for this session and is considered a possible nominee for Presidential candidate of the Democratic party.
Value of Modern Education.
We learn a great deal that is useless about geography, but ask any simple question of the average "educated" person—the shortest route to Paris for instance, or how many days it takes to go to India or to Argentina—and you will probably receive a wrong answer or no answer at all.—Petite Republique.
Ever Noticed It?
Just when a fellow begins to think the business couldn't possibly go on without him he gets fired.—Luck.
Judge Hughes as a Jester.
Shortly after Governor Hughes of New York was elected the second time, after bitter campaign, a lawyer from New York came to see him and was told to go to the executive mansion in Albany. It was the first time the lawyer had ever been in the official residence of New York governors, and after Hughes came into the room, the visitor said: "You have a handsome place here." "Yes," Hughes replied; "but I had a hard time getting the landlord to renew the lease."—Saturday Evening Post.

LAZY LIVER, BILIOUSNESS, HEADACHE, COATED TONGUE OR A BAD STOMACH

You men and women who somehow can't get feeling right—who have an almost daily headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean bills with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage way every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important. Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

REGULATE STOMACH, LIVER & BOWELS
TASTE GOOD—NEVER GRIPE OR SICKEN.

PROVISIONS TAKEN INTO THE REGION HIT BY THE STORM

Two Autos Laden With Supplies Distributed Yesterday to Cyclone Sufferers West of the City.

Two autos laden with supplies and provisions traveled the entire cyclone stricken region west of the city yesterday. A large amount of groceries were distributed to all who were in need and the machines returned to the city last evening entirely empty.

George Ducker was in charge of the expedition and was accompanied by Mrs. Decker, Louis Gage, and Wallace Michaelson.

The following amount of provisions were distributed: 200 60-cent packages of sugar, 24 sacks of flour, and 50 1-pound lots of coffee.

It was estimated that one-third of the territory was covered yesterday. It was found that there was a need for such provisions and the gratitude of those favored with a visit yesterday fully repaid the trouble of the party who did the distributing.

THE TIPPING EVIL.

When Tools, the famous actor, was playing an exceptionally fine engagement with a company in London, he said to the manager laughingly: "Oh, by the way, if my wife comes down next week don't say anything about the big receipts. You see, I've a lot of nephews and nieces, and they all expect tips from Uncle Johnnie. Last year they had over £400 from me, and my wife thinks I rather overdo it."

ITALICA FIRST USED BY VENETIAN.

Italica were first used about A. D. 1500 by Minutius, a Venetian printer, who dedicated them to the Italian states. Hence the name. The first book set up in Italica was an edition of Vergil printed at Venice by Aldus in 1601. A copy of this rare book is preserved in the British museum.

Take this harmless compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or grippe misery as promptly and without any after-effects as Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

"The life I lead has got my goat; I surely suffer for a change, and so methinks I'll have to vote."
I'm tired of holding on my knees An old corn cob and dows, I WOMAN sigh; I'm tired of pink and yellow tans, I'm tired of playing bridge and whist, I'm tired of reading at the clubs long papers that I rot by rote, I'm tired of arguing with dubs, and so methinks I'll have to vote. My husband's life is picturesque, no trace of ennui can I know; he merrily labors at his desk, and digs up wealth for me to blow. When he was but a humble clerk, and drew the slimmest sort of pay, I used to stay at home and work and then I sang the livelong day. But when we prospered, and the dough came rolling in, I turned work down I hired me servants, and would go to every lam-borne in town. I haven't a penny or dish in years, or stewed a prune or swept a floor, and I am tired and wet with tears, and my poor heart is sad and sore. An idle woman's life is vain, her thoughts are oft too fierce to quote; my futile days give me a pain, and so methinks I'll have to vote."

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS.

Christopher Columbus, who discovered America in an idle moment about 10:20 p. m. of October 11, 1492, was the son of poor but honest parents who raised sheep and originated the wool industry several years before Schedule K was introduced with curly-bitch jokers. After Christopher graduated from the high school, he gave up the wool business and having nothing else to do at the time, he decided to discover America.

MISSISSIPPI BAPTIST MEET.

Gulfport, Miss., Nov. 22.—Three days of interest and activity for the leaders of the Baptist denomination were ushered in here this morning with the formal opening of the annual meeting of the Mississippi Baptist Convention. The roll call showed an unusually large attendance of ministers and lay delegates representing the Baptist churches throughout the state. Following the exchange of greetings and the completion of organization the convention spent the day in listening to the annual reports from the colleges, hospitals, orphan asylums and other institutions maintained by the denomination. One of the important matters to come before the convention is the proposal for the establishment of a new Baptist college for girls in this state.

Grand Opera in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 22.—With every prospect of eclipsing all previous records in the matter of variety and brilliancy, the annual season of the Chicago Grand Opera Company opens in the Auditorium tonight with a performance of Saint-Saens' "Samson et Delilah." During the rest of the week the presentations will include Bizet's "Carmen," Donizetti's "L'Elisir d'Amour," Mozart's "Le Nozze di Figaro," Verdi's "Il Trovatore," Verdi's "Messia da Requiem," Massenet's "Cendrillon" and Verdi's "Traviata."

Railway Business Association.

New York, Nov. 22.—Presidents of trade bodies in several scores of the principal cities of the country gathered here today for the annual dinner of the Railway Business Association, which is made up of manufacturers of railway equipment and supplies. Leading the list of visitors as the chief speakers at the banquet were Governor Emmet O'Neill of Alabama and Walker D. Hines, chairman of the executive committee of the Atchafalaya and Santa Fe Railway Company.

CURED OF DRINK HABIT BY THE NEAL TREATMENT

Advertising Man Rescued from Life of Misery and Disgrace in 3 Days.

HIS INTERESTING LETTER

I do not crave publicity and notoriety, but on the contrary shrink from it, yet I feel that it is my duty to the afflicted thousands, the dear ones interested in them, and all lovers of humanity to make and consent to the general publication of the following:

For more than thirty years I was an addict and faithful slave to an ever present consuming and irresistible appetite, inward craving and gnawing for alcoholic liquor. During all this period it was the perquisite of friends and myself, and my constant desire to escape from, to overcome my awful affliction, and at different times I took all of the advertised treatments for the drink habit that I heard of, including the old time four to seven weeks' treatment with hypodermic injections, and I consulted with and was treated by over a score of good physicians and reputable alcoholic specialists, but all failed to give the desired relief.

I was taken by friends to the Neal Institute, where the NEAL THREE DAY treatment was administered to me. It sobered me up in a few hours, quicker, easier, and with ten times less suffering than I was over, sobered before. Inside of 36 hours the intense craving and gnawing for liquor was changed into a disgust and loathing for it, which I am pleased to state has continued until this time.

After the lapse of many months, during which time I have felt better both mentally and physically than ever before, I now know that I am absolutely and permanently cured of the great affliction of my life. I also personally know of hundreds of other wonderful cures by the Neal treatment, and the results accomplished in three days' time is the wonder and marvel of all patients and their friends. The Neal is the best investment morally, physically, mentally and financially that any drinking man, his family or friends can make.

I shall be greatly pleased to answer all inquiries made by phone, letter, or to me in person, and to do all within my power to aid the afflicted, and all interested.

(Signed) M. D. HOLT.

Present address, 4852 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Only with the written consent of the patients do we ever use the name or in any way disclose the identity of any Neal-cured patient. Mr. M. D. Holt's cure by the Neal treatment, like hundreds of others, is to him and his friends so wonderful and satisfactory that with his consent, and in the interests of the Neal cause and afflicted and suffering humanity, we publish his signed statement. Truly, as stated by one who has made careful investigation, "the Neal is the world's greatest drink habit cure." The Neal Institute in Milwaukee, is one of a mighty chain of "Life Saving Stations"—over half a hundred, located in the United States and foreign countries, and in any of these this treatment composed of purely vegetable and perfectly harmless medicine, which is taken internally only, without any hypodermic injections, is administered. A personal call is always most satisfactory to those interested because of the convincing evidence which we gladly furnish at the Institute, but if this is not convenient or possible, write, wire or phone us for full particulars, information and advice. Address the Neal Institute, 444 Cass Street, Telephone 2726, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

GOITRE

Though small, it may prove fatal. As the mass increases in size, it oftentimes causes asphyxia (loss of voice) due to paralysis of either or both vocal cords, sudden death due to compression of the trachea. Dyspnea (difficult breathing) often due to such disfiguring growths.

Let us talk with you about your goitre, we have wonderful success with such cases. Once removed by Chiropractic Adjustments they never return.

WASTED MOMENTS WERE NEVER KNOWN IN GLADSTONE'S LIFE

Great English Premier Improved Every Moment and Opportunity—Candidates Should Do Same

One of the Greatest Offers Ever Tendered Ladies of This State

William Ewart Gladstone was a genius. Throughout his life he carried a book in his pocket, lest some spare moment escaped unimproved. The fact that he always carried a book in his pocket did not make him a great man, but the spirit that prompted him to utilize every moment of the day made him the greatest statesman and premier England has ever known.

Now, why shouldn't that spirit be acquired by everyone in everything, and especially why shouldn't every candidate in the Gazette automobile prize campaign prove into service every spare moment of the time? If you are going to get into the campaign in earnestness, now is the time to begin.

"A baked loaf is better than a hard-earned one, and an acre in the back of a lot is better than a princely salary in the bank."

A Start is Necessary
Candidates who are not yet working in full swing may be impressed with a few of the following ideas, and possibly some of the more thoughtful will agree that the assimilation of these ideas and the proper working out of them will lead to success.

For Instance:
The new Howick building in which The Gazette is published was once a pencil mark on the back of an envelope. Before that, it was an idea; and it was built a stone at a time, and now it stands a monument to the enterprise and perseverance of those who pushed it to completion.

How it Applies
First, you get the idea of entering this campaign, then you make some plans and clip a few coupons, then you get a few subscribers, and then, if your plans have a good foundation, you soon have a structure that is making your friends sit up and take notice.

Then they, in turn, come along to help you out, some with suggestions, others with coupons and nomination blanks, and others with subscriptions. And, eventually, you go back over the list and get the united support of all, and in a few short weeks that little idea has developed into a mighty and aggressive campaign, and you find yourself riding to success on the top of a huge wave of enthusiasm, and the goal is within reach.

Perhaps you did not receive your share of the coupons and nomination blanks, but do not let that worry you. You can gain more votes by spending one day in subscription getting than you could have gained by one week of coupon clipping.

Future Orders.
Don't give up a party as a subscriber, city or county, simply because he is taking some other paper and paid in advance for it. Take his subscription to The Gazette and when his subscription expires on the other paper he will begin to receive The Gazette.

Weekly Gazette.
Any subscriber now taking the Weekly Gazette may be paying up their arrears on the weekly state. The Daily Gazette and all such subscriptions will be closed as now Daily subscribers and votes issued accordingly.

Subscription Books.
Candidates and their friends are privileged to accept payments on subscriptions and in order that they may receipt for such payments we will provide them with a receipt book if they will inform the campaign department.

Open Evenings.
For the benefit of those who can not call during regular office hours, the campaign department will remain open until 8 p. m. each week day evening.

LIST OF CANDIDATES.
According to the count of 9 A. M. yesterday.

WHERE OIL MAGNATE PASSES SUMMER MONTHS

Cleveland, Ohio.—Much speculation is being indulged in over the recent dispatches to the effect that the late John D. Rockefeller's Forest Hill farm, four miles from here has suddenly and mysteriously gone dry. So far no explanation of its sudden drying up has been given. It was a beautiful body of water about three acres in extent and was only a short distance from the famous golf links where the oil king passes most of his waking hours during his summer stays at Forest Hill.

It is no pleasant matter to secure photographs of the Rockefeller grounds as they are carefully guarded by a cordon of guards and will battle the luckless man who is discovered near in extent and was only a short distance from the famous golf links where the oil king passes most of his waking hours during his summer stays at Forest Hill.

Used to Be Sick.
Louis Zeltner, fusion nominee for alderman in the Fourth district, was launching a campaign speech from the tail end of a cart in Columbia street when a young man rushed up and pulled at his coat, relates the New York Herald. The speaker resented the interruption, but the intruder was persistent. Mr. Zeltner started to say something about Tammany Hall methods of breaking up a meeting when the young man jumped on the cart and whispered in the conspiring candidate's left ear. The look of wrath gave way to a broad smile as the nominee asked: "Is it a boy or girl?" "Girl," said the informant, and Mr. Zeltner left the cart without completing the attack on Tammany. Later he informed the fusion leaders that he was sure of winning, as luck had come with the eighth member of his family.

WU TING FANG

ALL LOOK TO WU TING-FANG FOR ORGANIZATION OF REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT IN CHINA.

Notwithstanding the fact that premier Yuan Shi Kai has announced his cabinet as the first step toward bringing China's affairs out of their present chaotic state, the powers still look toward Wu Ting Fang's organization of the revolutionary party as China's ultimate hope for a stable form of government.

It is questioned if Yuan Shi Kai's cabinet will stand from the fact that it comprises men of inharmonious tendencies. Some of the members are known to be strong adherents of the old government, while others are strong sympathizers of the revolutionary movement. The organization of this cabinet was evidently an attempt to include in its personnel representatives of all parties and the question arises whether the premier was unable to foresee his inability to operate such a cabinet.

One of the surprises was that Wu Ting Fang's name did not appear among the appointees.

Wu Ting Fang is the leader of the radicals in the Young China party and was designated director of foreign affairs in the rebel provisional government. The establishment of the republican form of government is still progressing rapidly under the organization of Dr. Wu.

Shiftless Lot.

A little cross-dressing was going on between the Texas and Arkansas lawmakers when Senator Culbertson said: "Arkansas is a suburb of Texas, and there are some powerful good people there, but about the most shiftless family I ever heard of lived in that state. The family belonged to the numerous Smiths. Old Daddy Smith was very sick, and a neighbor called to see about his condition. He found no one at home, except a daughter-in-law, who informed him that the rest of the family had gone to 'see their daddy buried.' The neighbor was a religious man, and inquired of the daughter-in-law if the old gentleman had made any preparations for eternity. 'No,' replied the woman, 'nothing more than to give the two boys a horse apiece. He knew they'd never own one of they had to work for it.'

Flaubert's First Novel.

Many hitherto unpublished works by Gustave Flaubert have appeared of recent years. None of them has been devoid of interest, but "November," now published by Conrad, is noteworthy. It was Flaubert's first novel, written in 1842, when he was twenty-one, and before all else a dreamer and lyricist. The story is of a young man who has lived in the realm of imagination.—The Athenaeum.

Cain the Jester.

Cain had returned from the fields alone. "Where is your brother Abel?" asked Adam. "Oh," replied Cain, carelessly, "Abel has become a charter member of the Can't Come Back Club." Whereupon he established a reputation as the village fool.

Ready For the Worst.

Truet Distributor—Doesn't it seem dreadful that ere long you must lie down in that silent tomb?

"Oh, no! That doesn't worry me."

"You are prepared, then?"

"Prepared for anything. I write jokes for a funny paper."

Buttons Also Required.

Rev. Shady Kolchun—Our hab bit so many buttons in do plate heath lately fori contrubutions for do heath then dat i's bound to suggest dat do roungousham fubish some garments for go wld em.

Reassuring.

Town Visitor—That's the village doctor, isn't it?

Townsmen—Yep.

Town Visitor—Is he a good doctor?

Townsmen—Oh, he's all right—if you've got a strong constitution.—Puck.

A Mere Sham.

This, explained the cigar salesman, "will make an excellent pipe for your husband. It's a meerschaum."

"How dare you, sir," the lady demanded indignantly, "attempt to sell me a fraudulent article! I want the genuine or nothing."—Judge's Library.

One Advantage of Esperanto.

"There's one good thing about Esperanto."

"Yes?" (Rising indignation.)

"Yes; you can't build a limerick in that language."

This is Barbarous.

Customer—Hurrah! Everybody will be playing football now.

Barber (not so enthusiastic)—Yes; no hair cuts and everybody using safety razors.

The Locality of Chicago.

A traveling salesman out of Chicago was in Lexington, Ky., recently and had to talk over the telephone to one of his customers in a neighboring town. When he had completed the conversation he asked the demure little operator how much the charges were, and she replied: "Thirty cents." At this the C. T. S. frately declared that in Chicago one could talk to hell and back for 30 cents.

The operator quietly replied: "Yes, but this is a long-distance call."—Everybody's Magazine.

Famine Applause.

"What on earth d'you keep clapping for? That last singer was awful!"

"I know; but I liked the style of her clothes and I want to have another look at them."—London Opinion.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Gazette, Nov. 22, 1871.

It is intimated that the president will make no recommendation in his forthcoming message with regard to Utah. He will simply set forth what has been done by the United States Judiciary, and then leave the whole question open for congressional action.

On Saturday six endot midshipmen were expelled from the Naval Academy for hazing. The officers were ordered to appear in fatigue dress, and the battalion was drawn up, the six delinquents placed in front of it, and the order expelling them read.

It is believed that the White House that in three months no traces of the Kim Klux Klan can be found in the United States, so persistent are the officials in the extermination of them.

The city hall at Madison has been improved by a new stage and new scenery.

The Fond du Lac Commonwealth complains that a member of the board of education in that city appropriates the wood belonging to the city schools for his own use. Corruption in such places isn't confined to New York City alone.

Lake Michigan is trespassing on Racine soil. The Advocate says that the protection from the lands of the lake must be made or the lake shore road abandoned entirely before long.

L. Cole of the Madison Journal called upon us here yesterday noon.

A light mantle of snow covered the ground this morning, which, with the thermometer with fourteen degrees of zero, warns us that winter is at hand.

NEW CARDINAL-ELECT FARLEY

The Pope was made at a reception to the Cardinal-elect, Farley, at the Catholic League of Ireland at Carnegie Hall on Nov. 10th. A few days before his departure the Cardinal-elect, dedicated the new St. Barnabas Church in New York City, under the escort of the Holy Name Society.

Gillhooley of Agadir.

The ruler of Agadir is a Kaid Gillili, a chieftain only twenty-five years of age, who lives in a curious little fortified town or saint's tomb called Dar-Gillili, which is situated about half way between Mogador and Agadir. Gillili or Gillhooley claims to be a countryman of mine, descended from an Irish lad who was carried off from the town of Baltimore some hundreds of years ago by Algerian corsairs and afterward sold as a slave to the Moors. The only proofs which he can adduce in support of his claim to Irish descent are a green turban and a pug-nacious disposition. He has been constantly on the rampage in the Atlas mountains for the last five years and may at any moment be on the warpath against the Germans. Some people have suggested that he turned me out because, as I, half from the black north, he suspected me of being an Orangeman.—Westminster Gazette.

Destructive Dring Well.

About a mile west of Carters, on the west bank of Onondaga creek, a huge well has broken through the earth. The well is about fifty feet in diameter and is within fifty feet of the bank of the Onondaga creek, and is overflowing into this creek in a volume big enough to fill an eight-inch pipe. The farmers in the vicinity of the well report that trout in the creek have died by the hundreds. The well keeps undermining and at the present time it has lowered the level of the land 75 feet and killed all the trees in the vicinity.—Newark Courier.

Smooth Faces Claimed.

A distinguished Vienna physician has attributed the increase in diseases of the respiratory organs to the growing practice among men of going clean shaven.

Barbarous Penalty.

Death by prevention of sleep is a legal form of punishment in China.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—But Father shouldn't grumble, it's all for a noble cause.

The KINGDOM of SLENDER SWORDS

by HALLIE ERMINE RIVES

Copyright, 1910, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"So, Ojo-San! That was indeed true. All Japan name mean something. 'Haru' mean spring, for because my born that time. Very funny—no?"

"It is very pretty," said Barbara.

"How thin's that?" was the delighted exclamation. "Mama-San give name. My like name yellow, for because Mama-San no more in this world. My house little lonesome now."

"Where is your house, Haru? Near by?"

The slender hand pointed to the wooded height behind the garden. "Just there on the street call Enryoto-the-Gods. My house so-o-a small, in garden 'bout such big." She indicated a space of perhaps six feet square. "Funny—no?"

"And who lives there with you?"

Haru smiled brilliantly. "Oh, so-o many people! Papa-San an—jus' me."

"No brother?"

"No brother," she said. "Papa-San very angry for because my jus' girl an' no could be kill in Port Arthur."

She spoke with a smile, but the matter of fact words brought suddenly home to Barbara something of the flavor of that passionate loyalty, that hot heroism and dubious contempt of death which has been the theme of a hundred stories. "Do all Japanese feel so, Haru?" she asked.

"Would or any father be glad to give his son's life for Japan?"

"The girl looked at her as if she jest. 'Of course! All Japan man most happy if to be kill for our emperor. That's for why better to be man. Girl jus' can stay home an' wish.' As the gown's fastenings were slipped into its place she turned up her lovely oval face with a smiling, sidelong look.

"Ma-a-a!" she exclaimed. "How it is beautiful, no, only—"

"Only what?"

"My think the Ojo-San must suffer through the center."

Laughingly Barbara caught the other's slim wrist and drew her before the mirror. "My oriental standard the Japanese girl was as fluently bred as herself. In the two faces, both keenly delicate and sensitive, yet so sharply contrasted—one pale olive under its jetty pillow of straight black hair, the other fair and brown eyed, crowned with curling gold—the extremes of east and west looked out at each other.

"So, Haru," said Barbara. "How different we are!"

"You so more good luck!" sighed the Japanese girl. "My jus' like the night."

"Ah, but a moonlight night," cried Barbara, "soft and warm and full of secrets. When you have a sweetheart you will be far more lovely to him than any foreign girl could be."

Haru blushed rosily. "Sweetheart p'raps now," she said. "All same kind America story my 'bout."

"Have you really, Haru?" cried Barbara. "I love to hear about sweethearts. Maybe some day I may have one too. Some time you'll tell me about him, won't you?"

Suddenly, far below the window, there came a snarling scramble and a savage, menacing bay. Barbara leaped out. A twain, long muzzled wolfhound, fastened to a stake, glared up at her out of red dimmed eyes.

"Poor fellow!" she exclaimed. "He looks sick. Does he have to be tied up?"

The Japanese girl shivered. "Very bad dog," she said. "My think very danger to not kill."

The deep tone of the dinner gong shuddered through the house, and Barbara hastened out. Patricia met her in the hall, and the two girls, with arms about each other's waists, descended the broad angled stair to the dining room, where the ambassador stood, tall and spare and iron gray, with a contagious twinkle in his kindly eyes.

"There rose again on the still night air the savage bay Barbara had heard in her room. 'I'm afraid I must make up my mind to lose Shiro,' the ambassador said regretfully. 'He's a Siberian wolfhound that a friend sent me from Moscow. But the climate doesn't agree with him apparently. For the last two days he's seemed really unsafe. There's a famous Japanese dog doctor in this section, but he's been sick himself, and I haven't liked to go to an ordinary native vet. But I shall have him looked at tomorrow.'

"I do hope you will," said Mrs. Dandridge, nervously. "He almost killed Patricia's Pomeranian the first day he came."

"Coffee was served in the small drawing room, a homelike, soft-toned room of crystal paneled bookcases and furniture that had been handed down in the Dandridge family from candlelight colony days.

"It seems a shame," said Mrs. Dandridge, "that this evening has to be broken, but Pat and I must look in at the charity bazaar. I'm sure you won't mind, Barbara, if we leave you alone now for an hour or so. It's a new idea. Every body is to bring something she has no further use for, but which is too good to throw away."

"I presume," observed the ambassador innocently, "that some of them will bring their husbands."

"No!" said Mrs. Dandridge as she drew on her wrap, "people will soon think you haven't a serious side. It would serve you right if I took you along as my contribution."

"Ah," returned he, "I was thoughtful enough to make a previous engagement. Dr. Bersonin is coming to see me."

Pat's nose took a decided elevation. "The government expert," she said. "He was on the train. It's the first time I ever saw him without that smart looking Japanese head boy of his who goes with him everywhere as an interpreter."

"I've noticed that," Mrs. Dandridge said. "He's always with him in his automobile. By the way, Pat, who does that boy remind me of? It has always puzzled me."

"Why," Patricia answered, "he looks something like that Japanese student we saw so often the winter Barbara and we were in Monterey. You remember, Barbara—the one who spoke such perfect English. We thought he was loony because he used to sit on the bench all day and all little wooden posts."

"So he does," said her mother. "There's a decided resemblance. But Dr. Bersonin's boy is anything but loony. He has a most intelligent face."

"Besides," said Patricia, "the other was nearsighted and wore spectacles. Goodby, Barbara. I hope the doctor will be gone when we get back."

CHAPTER V.
DR. BERSONIN.

THE ambassador received his caller in his study. From across the hall open door could see the expert's huge form filling an armchair. She could hear his voice distinctly. Its even, dead flatness affected her curiously. Something had been said in the farther room which caught her attention.

"I understand the trials of the new powder have been very successful," the ambassador was saying. "It is destined to revolutionize warfare, do you think?"

"It is too soon to tell yet," was the reply. "Just what the result will be, it will enormously increase the range of projectiles, as your excellency may guess, and its area of destruction will nearly double that of lyddite."

Barbara felt rather than saw that the ambassador gave a little shudder. "I can imagine what that means," he said. "I saw Port Arthur after the siege. So war is to grow more dreadful still! When will it cease, I wonder."

"Never," Bersonin answered, with a cold smile. "It is the love of power that makes war, and that in man is inherent and ineradicable. A nation is only the individual in the aggregate, and selfishness is the guiding gospel of both."

To Barbara the words seemed coldly, cruelly, repellent. She felt a sudden quiver of dislike run over her. "You paint a sorry picture," said the ambassador. "Can human ingenuity go much further, then? What, in your opinion, will be the fighting engine of the future?"

"The engine of the future"—Bersonin spoke deliberately—"will be along other lines. It will be an atomic one. It will employ no projectile, and no armor plate will resist it. The discoverer will have harnessed the law of molecular vibration. As there is a positive force that binds atoms together, so there must be a negative force that under certain conditions can drive them apart."

He spoke with what seemed an extraordinary conviction. His manner had subtly changed. For the first time his tone had gathered something like feeling, and the dry, metallic voice seemed to Barbara to vibrate with a curious, gleaming triumph.

"Granted such a force," he went on, "and a machine to generate and direct it, and of what value is the most powerful battleship, the most stupendous fort? More silly shreds of steel and stone! Why, such an engine might be carried in a single hand, and yet the nation that possessed it could be master of the world."

"No!" said the ambassador vehemently. "Humanity would revolt. Such a discovery would be worth less than nothing. Its use by any warring nation would call down the execration of civilization, and the man who knew the secret would be too dangerous to be at large."

"That has occurred to me," Bersonin said. "I think your excellency is right. Invention may do its work too well. However, no doubt we speak of scientific impossibilities; let us hope so, at any rate."

Barbara slipped into the next room, closing the door and drawing the heavy portieres that hung over it. She had had for a moment a vague, almost childish sense of shrinking as if from something monstrous and uncanny. A grand piano stood open by the window, and in the dim light she sat down and let her fingers wander idly in long arpeggios. She thought no one heard, but out by the open hedge a man was standing listening to the hushed chords floating through the open window.

From the doorway on the Yokohama bluff Daunt had come back to Tokyo.

Tokyo had been the objective point of Daunt's six years of diplomatic career, and he had found the kingdom of slender swords a fascinating and absorbing study. In the absorbing routine of the chancery and the bright gayeties of the capital's diplomatic circle the first year had gone swiftly enough. Since then the glider experiments had lent an added zest.

Even at college Langley's first aeroplane had interested him, and out of that interest had grown a course of reading which had given him a broad technical knowledge of applied mechanics. In Japan he had conceived the idea of the new fan propeller, worked out in many an hour of study in the little Japanese house in Aoyama, which he had taken because it adjoined the parade ground where his earliest experiments were made.

One day his friend, Viscount Sakai, a dapper young officer on the general staff, had surprised him with the offer from the Japanese war department of the use of an empty garage on the edge of the great explained. Only a month ago he had awakened to the knowledge that his name was known to the hero enthusiasts of Paris, New York and Vienna and that his propeller was an assured success.

Unconsciously tonight his thoughts slowly took the nebulous shape of a woman. He had often dreamed of her, though he had never seen her face. It was a fair, rosy now in the bluish haze of his pipe, while she talked to him before a fire of driftwood (that burned with red and blue lights because of sea ghosts in it), and her voice was low and clear, like a flute.

FAMOUS AMERICAN INDIANS

ALBERT PAYSON TERNHUNE

"EMPEROR" MCGILLIVRAY.

"The Spaniards are devils, and the biggest devil among them is the half-Spaniard, half-Frenchman, half-Scotchman and altogether Creek blackguard McGillivray."

Thus wrote Gen. James Robertson, the Tennessee pioneer. The man he referred to was a half-breed Creek war chief who went by the Scottish name of Alexander McGillivray. He had other names and titles. For instance, he called himself "emperor of the Seminoles and Creeks." He bamboozled both Spain and the United States into giving him commissions as a major general and persuaded England to make him a colonel. He drew pay from all three countries, playing one against the other and being loyal to none.

McGillivray was born in the Creek "nation" in 1740. His father was a Scotch emigrant of good birth, his mother a half-breed Creek princess. In the son's veins ran the blood of four races—Indian, Spanish, French and Scotch. Underneath the polish and learning he received, he was always a typical Indian of the worst sort. His father's family planned a white man's career for the lad. They gave him a splendid education; then found a position for him in a Savannah counting house.

A Flight From Civilization.

But the tame life of civilization wearied him and he went back to his mother's people. His education and natural genius soon raised him to the rank of chief, not only of the Creeks, but of the Seminoles and Chickamaugas, too. This triple power put him at the head of fully 10,000 warriors and made him lord of a domain larger than many European kingdoms. Small wonder that he took the title of emperor, surrounded himself with a royal court and was accompanied everywhere by a retinue!

When the revolutionary war broke out the British made him a colonel. This title, and the key uniform that went with it, delighted McGillivray's barbaric soul. Nor was the extra pay displeasing to him. He fought for the English throughout the revolution. Georgia therefore confiscated all his property in that state. In revenge for this he waged war on the white settlers in the south and west. When the United States and England signed a peace treaty, in 1783, McGillivray began to look about for new employment. Spain—then master of Florida—sought alliance with him. For a goodly sum he became a Spanish agent, with the title of general, and used his tribal power for Spain's advancement. Then, in 1790, he consented to go to New York for a personal conference with President Washington. He made the journey in imperial state. At every city along the route there were crowds and music to welcome the "Emperor." All this put him in a good humor. He readily made a diplomatic and commercial treaty with Washington, consenting to act as United States agent, with the rank of general and a salary of $1,200 a year. He also received $100,000 indemnity for the land that Georgia had confiscated from him. Although he then took oath of allegiance to this country, he sent word to his Spanish employers that he should continue to look after Spain's interest just the same. In view of such loyal services the Spaniards raised his salary to $3,500 a year. This, with his yearly $1,200 from the United States and his tribal properties, added to the money he could earn by grafting and his income as partner in a large southern commercial house, made him a very rich man.

Spain, Great Britain and the United States were not upon the friendliest terms in those days. Indeed, in the south their interests were forever clashing. Yet McGillivray had enough tact to keep his name on the pay roll of the three countries and to give more or less satisfaction to all of them. He also grew daily more powerful and secure in his office of "Emperor," using white men and Indians alike as pawns in his successful game of politics and finance.

Past Master of Treachery.

Though in the sworn service of the United States, he did not cease his bloodthirsty raids on southwestern settlers. Nor did he ever let his oath of allegiance to any nation interfere with his personal interests and plans of vengeance. It has been said of McGillivray: "He was an instance of a powerful intellect absolutely divorced from moral principle."

In his declining years McGillivray took pleasure in giving a statesman-like education to his nephew, a youth who was one day to blaze a bloody trail in history under the name of Ted Eagle, and whose life story has been told in an earlier article of this series.

McGillivray escaped punishment for his countless offenses and died rich and honored, February 17, 1793. He was buried with Masonic honors in the garden of his business partner's house at Pensacola, Fla.

Too Much Money.

"Did you try counting sheep for your insomnia?"

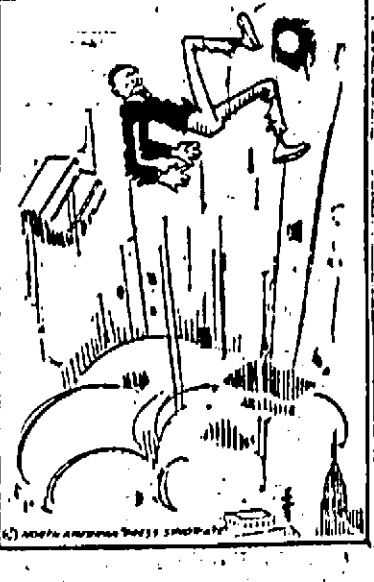

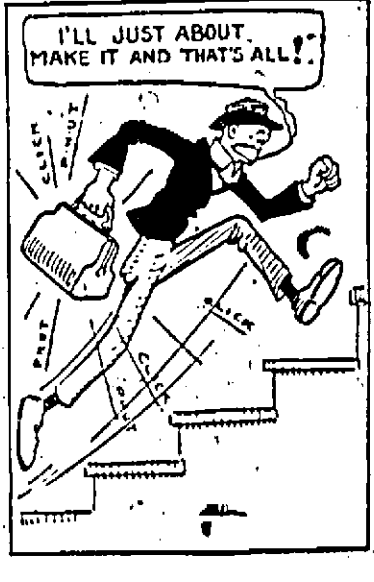

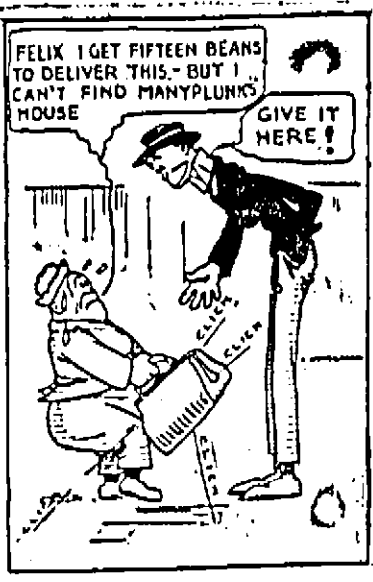

"Yes, doctor, but I made a mess of it. I counted 10,000 sheep, put 'em on the cars and shipped 'em to market. The wind of money I got for 'em made me afraid to go to sleep."

MRS. E. H. HARRIMAN

SCHOOL TO STUDY PUBLIC BUSINESS.

New York City.—Largely through the help of Mrs. E. H. Harriman a fund of $10,000 a year for five years has been provided to maintain an experimental school for the study and administration of public business. While the school is to be started here its scope is intended to be national.

A statement of the plan by the Bureau of Municipal Research with which Mrs. Harriman has been co-operating, announces that requests for the extension of this work in other cities and the inability to secure a sufficient number of men qualified to take it up, suggested to Mrs. Harriman the need of providing a training school for public service. Mrs. Harriman has recently been consulting personally and by correspondence, business men, journalists, educators, and public officials as to the need of such a school, and without exception these men replied that training for this work is needed.

In order to make possible a five year's test for the training school, Mrs. Harriman made the generous offer of $40,000 for the first year and $10,000 a year for the succeeding four years conditional on contributions of $20,000 a year from other sources.

Many of the country's philanthropists have contributed including John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, Jacob Schiff, Cornelius Vanderbilt, J. P. Morgan, and about twenty others. George W. Perkins, C. A. Coffin, and Mortimer L. Schiff have been asked to serve as an executive committee and trustees for this fund to assist Mrs. Harriman in the practical working out of her general plan. It is said that in interesting herself in this work Mrs. Harriman is merely following out a work which her husband became interested in a short time before his death.
